

1.0 Copyright

- 1.1 Computer programs are classified as "literary works." As such, they are covered under copyright protection (17 USC Section 101). Copyright extends to computer programs in source code as well as object code. Even though the copyright notice is not displayed, a computer program may still be under copyright protection.
- 1.2 All students, faculty, and staff shall follow the Los Rios Community College District copyright Policy (P-8333) and Administrative Regulation (R-8333), and Federal, state and local law concerning copyright of computer programs and web pages.
